SUBJECT LINE: NEW – Our new instructional video platform is EchoVideo

Dear Professor,

Our team is pleased to inform you that EchoVideo, an instructional video platform, is now available to you. EchoVideo has a variety of capabilities to support you in your teaching:

- Make your presentations available so students can follow along in class
- Record your class for student review (in enabled classrooms)
- Flip your class or create supplemental learning modules by creating short videos on your laptop (you can publish them directly to the LMS)
- Know when students are confused by particular concepts
- See analytics about how students are engaging with video content and poll questions

In addition, students can take notes, ask questions of you and their fellow students, and study using the digital study guide in the EchoVideo platform.
